

CAGE and Citizens Against Ugly Street Spam (CAUSS)

You can join fellow sharkies or sign sharks (that's what sign removers are called) in most of our states and learn what is being done to combat this blight.

It's a very informative web site with forums that will provide you with laughter, information and encouragement as it's citizens like us and code enforcement people who use the site.

Please check it out and join today.

We removed 142 signs over the past few days in Rosedale-making a small dent. I have added them to my collection to use as dropcloths, makeshift shovels for cleanups, paint can platforms, protective case for some sharp ended tools etc. I strongly encourage everyone to either report a few signs or take down a few signs this week. IF everyone does a little, it does make a big difference!

Some communities that are not involved with CAGE, do nothing to report or paint over graffiti and do not report or remove signage and it shows. Sometimes we as citizens need to be proactive to keep our communities clean and safe. Too bad everyone can not do their part-but our rewards are in our quality of life and property values!

Election posters are coming! We have asked candidates to not post signs-most have said they would not but I am not that gullible. We all need to be ready, so every sign you remove before election day will make a difference.

Best regards to all!
