RE: Intro 623 Advertising on Sidewalk Sheds

Dear City Council Member:

We write to urge you to remove your name as a sponsor of Intro 623, which would allow commercial advertising on construction sheds in most parts of the city and to oppose the legislation should it come before the Council.

Construction sheds are a necessary evil and should be tolerated only as a safety measure while construction is taking place. Too often the sheds remain in place long after there is any need for them. . Legalizing ads on the sheds will only encourage developers with troubled projects to view the sheds as revenue producers.

If the Council is committed to preserving New Yorkers' quality of life and prevent the City from spiraling into the decrepitude of the nineteen seventies and early eighties, as we believe it is, care must be taken for the esthetics of the physical city. Keeping our streets and avenues attractive is essential to that goal. Maintaining an attractive and welcoming streetscape must be a priority in these difficult economic conditions. Advertising on sidewalk sheds has no role in that mission.

Forty years after Lady Bird Johnson launched the successful nation-wide movement to rid the nation's highways of unsightly billboards and a decade after New York City banned most ads from arterial highways, the City Council should reject out of hand further "uglification" of our streets and avenues.

The Queens Civic Congress is an umbrella organization for more than 110 community and neighborhood based groups representing tenants, co-op and condo owners and homeowners living in every part of Queens.
