

Queens Civic Congress, Queens Chamber of Commerce, Elected officials Speak Out Against Tolls

Sunday, November 16, 2008

The Queens Civic Congress participated in a news conference, Sunday, November 16, 2008 at the foot of the Brooklyn Bridge across Centre Street from City Hall, called by City Council Finance Committee Chairman David Weprin to oppose the tolling of the free East River bridges (including our Queensborough Bridge) and reinstate the non-resident income tax. Pictured below (left to right) are Queens Civic Congress President Corey Bearak, Queens Chamber of Commerce trustee Joshua Bienstock, Council Members David Weprin and Bill deBlasio and Brooklyn Borough President Marty Markowitz. (Photo courtesy of Councilman Weprin).

[continued next page]

Queens Civic Congress President Corey Bearak discusses opposition to tolling and notes the Queens Civic Congress revenue proposals for mass transit, including non-resident income tax reform. (Photo courtesy of Councilman Weprin).

[continued next page]

Councilman deBlasio makes a point. (Photo courtesy of Councilman Weprin).