QUEENS CIVIC CONGRESS ON CITY COMPTROLLER'S DOB AUDIT

"Comptroller Thompson's audit and recommendations bring new attention to a significant Quality of Life problem long endured in Queens, stated Corey Bearak, president of the Queens Civic Congress. The building of illegal units or their conversion by adding of apartment units through subdivisions or additions to existing housing in excess of the established zoning and use group regulations poses major public safety and quality of life problems.

"Our CIVIC 2030 platform proposes specific legislative remedies to address the no access problem, including passing legislation to authorize building inspector access to investigate illegal building violations in a dwelling and legislate the Queens Civic Congress proposal to improve inspector access." City Hall can no longer afford to ignore it.

Queens Civic Congress commends the Comptroller for performing and releasing this audit and for making clear the need for legislative and other remedies we recommend.

We refer the Administration, our electeds and interested New Yorkers to our HOUSING & BUILDINGS platform (pp 9-11 of CIVIC 2030).

Queens Civic Congress represents more than 115 civic and other community organizations throughout the borough of Queens.
